Kansas City Community Gardens

Kansas City Community Gardens is a local not-for-profit organization which has helped turn backyards, vacant lots and unused land into gardens since 1979.

We help individuals of all ages and abilities to plant and grow their own gardens—at their home, in group gardens and in plots throughout the greater Kansas City area.

Our membership includes some of Kansas City's expert urban gardeners, beginning gardeners and everything in between. We'd like to count you as a member, too.

Kansas City Community Gardens is a not-for-profit organization that assists low-income persons and community organizations in the metropolitan area to produce food from garden plots located in backyards, vacant lots, and at community sites.

Why start a garden?

Tasty, fresh fruits and vegetables— for much less than grocery store prices.

Pride in growing it yourself — and then sharing your harvest with family and friends.

A chance to grow your favorite foods— tomatoes, peas, okra, beans, corn—or whatever you enjoy eating.

Better nutrition—fresh vegetables and fruits are the cornerstone of good eating habits.

How can KCCG help?

Low cost:

- Seeds
- Plants
- Fertilizer
- Garden Plots
- Tiller Rental
- Tilling services for qualified members
- Gardening advice and assistance
- Free workshops

Along with individual gardens, KCCG can help with group gardens. Group gardens serve neighborhood groups, schools, not-for-profits, housing complexes, group homes—anywhere people want to garden. Call for assistance with starting your group garden.

KCCG also helps churches, businesses and service organizations grow gardens for shelters and food pantries.
